An Immediate Investigation of Department

INTRIGUE IS AT BOTTOM

Of Affair and Certain Officials It Is Alleged Would Undermine Him.

Washington, D. C., July 14.—That the Whiskey Trust, the Standard Oil Trust, the Glucose manufacturers and vendors of soft drinks are the real forces behind the move to oust Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, the Government's chief chemist, through departmental intrigue, was the authoritative information secured by democratic members of the house today.

An immediate investigation was decided upon by Chairman Moss (Dem., Ind.) of the house committee on expenditures in the department of agriculture. The committee will begin its probe this afternoon. Dr. Wiley would not contradict the statement that certain officials in the department had been attempting to undermine him and nullify his work.

He had not receded from his fighting attitude of yesterday, when asked today for an expression of opinion. "I am positive," he asserted, "that there are certain persons and interests attempting to assassinate me—not my body, but my character. Of the two modes of assassination I would infinitely prefer the physical."

"Do you know of any special interests that are leagued against you and whom you believe are responsible for the plan to have you ousted?"

"I know of them," Wiley replied grimly, "but I must refuse now to specify."

"There is a tide, however," he added "which will swamp even King Canute—the king in this instance being the vested interests."

In answer to a query as to the specific persons in the department itself who are working to secure his downfall Wiley waxed classic again.

"There is a little Latin quotation," he remarked, which is exactly applicable to this matter—it is: 'Justitia fiat, coelum ruat' and it is certain official of the department, whose name I shall not mention loses his head through this congressional investigation, you will see how true this phrase is."

The doctor refused to translate the phrase into English. It means: "Let justice be done, though the heavens fall."

The "certain official" referred to by Wiley was taken to mean George F. McCabe, solicitor of the department, member of the pure food board and one of the committee on personnel which recommended that Wiley be "permitted to resign" for his "irregularity" in connection with Dr. H. H. Rusby's employment.

"Have you heard the story that Attorney General Wickham, who advised 'condign punishment' for you is charged by the house committee on justice to have been guilty of similar infractions of red tape?" Dr. Wiley was asked.

"Well," he remarked drily, "it does make a difference whose ox is gored."

Regarding his reported intention to sue for damages for libel—Dr. Wiley said that he regarded many of the statements circulated about him to be justification for such a suit.

The house committee on expenditures in the department of agriculture is prepared to go deep into the Wiley expenditures.

"What we want to find out," said a Democratic member, "is who wants to fire Wiley and why."

Already Dr. Wiley is receiving telegrams offering him remunerative positions. One of these received today was from a large baking concern in New York, offering him nearly double his present salary to assume charge of the science of bread making in that establishment.

WOMAN WILL NOT BE HANGED

Ottawa, July 14.—Mrs. Angelina Neapolitan will not be hanged. The official announcement of the cabinet recommendation to the Deputy Governor General will probably not be made until the order is signed by Sir Lewis Dalvis some days hence. The decision was reached this morning on the advice of the minister of justice. Mrs. Neapolitano's sentence will be commuted to life imprisonment and she will probably be released on parole after a reasonable period.

STATE BOARD OF AWARDS
OF LIABILITY

Commission Consisting of Three Members Appointed By Governor Harmon on Thursday.

Columbus, July 14.—Thomas J. Duffy, East Liverpool, Democrat, two years.

W. A. Grieves, Columbus, Republican, four years.

Wallace D. Yaple, Chillicothe, Democrat six years.

Awards to the injured workmen and to the heirs of employees killed in Ohio industries will be made by the Ohio board of awards, which Governor Harmon appointed yesterday at Charlevoix as indicated above.

Mr. Duffy is president of the Ohio Potter's Association. He represents the employees as member of the board.

Mr. Grieves is in charge of the employment department of the Jeffrey Manufacturing company, and has handled the work of the benefit association which is maintained jointly by the officers and employees of the company. Formerly he had charge of the Y. M. C. A. employment department. He represents the employers as member of the board. His home is at 565 East Fifteenth avenue.

Mr. Yaple is serving his fifth term as mayor to Chillicothe and is recognized as being in the front rank of leaders of the Democratic party in Ohio. He was Governor Harmon's first choice as campaign manager. He is the lawyer member of the board.

The work, for which the members will be paid salaries of $5,000 each, will be of the highest responsibility. From August to January they will be engaged in classifying employments as to degree of hazard and fixing the premiums to be paid by employers on the basis of hazard, number of workers and wages.

The fund from which the awards will be paid will be assessed in January, 90 per cent on the employers and 10 per cent on the employees.

AREA OF 1,000
SQUARE MILES
WAS BURNED

Detroit, Mich., July 14.—Seven known dead and scores still missing, property loss at nearly $10,000,000 and an area of 1,100 square miles devastated is today the toll of forest fires in Michigan for the past three days. Many of the fires are still burning but the situation is greatly improved. East Tawas, the home of several hundred refugees from Oscoda and Au Sable, is today reported in grave danger with fierce fires burning only six miles from the town. The flames are rapidly approaching and separations are being hurriedly made from the burning district.

DEATH LIST WILL EXCEED FIVE HUNDRED

Ottawa, Ontario, July 14.—With the fires in northern Ontario under control the government is today devoting all its attention to alleviating the suffering of the survivors and recovering the bodies of the dead. The desolate death list will exceed 500 according to information sent by the officials in charge of the work.

MILLIONAIRES WHOM THE PROBES OF THE SUGAR TRUST WILL EXAMINE

Washington, July 14.—The special house committee investigating the sugar trust has decided that the investigation has about run its course for the present in Washington. It has been decided that operations will be transferred to New York on July 17 in that city the committee expects to

GUILTY BY
THE JURY

"Revealer" of Absolute
Life Now Facing Term
in Prison

MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL

Made by Attorneys Who Claim Case
Will Be Carried to Court of Last Resort.

Chicago, July 14.—Following the conviction of Evelyn Arthur See, the head of the Cult of Absolute Life, by a jury last night, Mona Rees, high priestess in the cult and her mother Mrs. Felicia Rees declared today that they would continue the teachings of See's alleged free love doctrines in the temple of the Junior Commonwealth. See now faces a term in prison of from one to ten years.

Stephen H. Bridges announced today that he would go before the grand jury and ask indictments against Mona Rees and her mother, and it is said that the state will ask indictments against Mrs. Bridges, all on the grounds that the women perjured themselves in their attempt to save See.

Chicago, Ill., July 14.—Evelyn Arthur See, the "Revealer" and also the leader of the "Absolute Life" love cult, was found guilty by a jury before Judge Honore in the Criminal Court last evening of abduction and contributing to the delinquency of Mildred Bridges, the seventeen-year "mother of the new race."

The jury left the box at 5:30 o'clock after listening to a passionate argument by Robert E. Cantwell, the "Revealer's" counsel. An hour later they appeared with a verdict, but on account of a technical error, Judge Honore ordered them back to their chambers to revise it. Half an hour later, the jury wended its way back into the jury box, Foreman Lange stepped to the bar, and handed the Court the verdict.

See looking less the "immortal" which his revelations had insured him to be, faced the Court. His gray locks were frizzled and beads of perspiration trickled down his forehead. He apparently was attempting to conceal his agitation.

"We the jury, find Evelyn Arthur See guilty," read the court clerk.

See started perceptibly and then was calm. His eyes sought the floor. Attorney Cantwell stepped to his side and spoke a few words into his ear.

"We make a motion for a new trial," the lawyer said, turning to the Court.

The closing chapter to the trial, the bringing in of the verdict, was the least spectacular incident of the trial. The five women who appeared for See during the trial were absent. Only a few court attendants, newspaper men and a few spectators were present.

WRECKING CREWS REMOVING DEBRIS OF FEDERAL EXPRESS CRASH; INQUEST IS BEGUN.

Bridgeport, Conn., July 14.—The wreck of the Federal express train of the N. Y. N. H. and H. railroad here has played one of the most disastrous smashups in the history of New England railroading. Trainmen believe one or more bodies are still in the first sleeper, which is yet covered by other debris. Several of the twelve bodies recovered are still unidentified. None of the fifty injured has died as yet, but it is believed that at least four and possibly eight cannot recover. The coroner's inquest and the inquiry of railroad officials have begun.

FLIES TO THE
WHITE HOUSE

Washington, July 14.—Undeterred by rain and high winds, Aviator Harry Atwood sailed today almost to the door of the White House to receive from the hands of President Taft a gold medal that had been voted him by the Aero Club in recognition of his cross country flight. When Atwood landed he was drenched to the skin and said that he had encountered a heavy rain storm while in the air.

REACTIONARIES DISAPPOINTED

Cedar Point, O., July 14.—The annual meeting of the Ohio State Bar Association was a disappointment to the reactionaries. They had hoped and planned for some action by the association that would direct public opinion especially among the legal profession against any efforts for a progressive constitution. The only point they scored during the entire convention was the address of Representative McCull of Missouri, its argument in opposition to the present form of state and national government.

INSURING AN INCOME

Landlords, as a guarantee against defaultment of income through the loss of tenants, call upon the Advocate Want Columns to promptly provide for you tenants to occupy your vacant property. Prudent landlords, those who rent, if they have vacant property upon their hands, keep in close touch with the Advocate Wants, and locate through them the most reliable tenants. Various households that rent a room or two find that the same rule holds good in their case—it pays to insure a steady income derived from tenants watching the Advocate Want Columns closely and immediately inserting a Want Ad when there is to be a change. The Advocate Wants being landlords and tenants together.

SENATOR WILLIAMS RESENTS
REMARKS OF A COLLEAGUE

Washington, July 14.—A characterization of the Confederacy as an "unholy cause," by Senator Heyburn of Idaho, brought from Senator Williams of Mississippi, a bitter reply in the senate.

"But for the parliamentary rules that restrain me," declared Mr. Williams "I would have a few words to say about the kind of human being in whose heart such thoughts exist."

Senator Williams had asked to have Jim Jones, the 82 year old negro who had been Jefferson Davis' body guard, and in whose custody the seal of the confederacy was entrusted, retained on the senate pay roll as a laborer.

Senator Heyburn acquiesced in retention of the negro for his services formerly, given to the senate, "but not because of loyalty to the glory of an unholy cause."

Senator Williams replied with great feeling that he was "not prepared to hear a civilized man, in the twentieth century, call an 'unholy cause' the cause for which his (Williams') father had laid down his life."

"Lee and Jackson may have been wrong," added Mr. Williams. "That the government is now in existence is a cause for congratulation to the nation."

UTICA HOTEL WAS FORCED TO CLOSE DOORS

Utica, July 14.—The new Hotel Quick, operated by Ralph Glaze failed to "make good" and it has been put out of business. Deputy Sheriff Martin has been in charge of affairs the past week, and the furniture is now being shipped back to a Centerville firm who furnished it. Meyer & Lindert, who had a large claim, and other creditors have been here looking after their interests. The new hotel Vance opening for business at the same time of the Hotel Quick, divided the patronage, and perhaps had much to do with making the Quick a losing proposition.

SET M'NAMARA
TRIAL FOR OCT.

Los Angeles, July 14.—The trial of John and James McNamee on a charge of murder in connection with the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times building will begin Oct. 10, almost a year after the plot was destroyed. The two prisoners were brought into court this morning and placed not guilty. After brief arguments by attorneys for the state and defense, the date for trial was set.

ASSAILED
POLICY OF PRESIDENT

LaFollette and Bristow Charged Taft With Betrayal of Trust

EXECUTIVE IS CENSURED

For Conservation and Tariff Policy and Aiding Aldrich and Cannon.

Washington, July 14.—Two important insurgent speeches against the Canadian reciprocity bill were made yesterday, when Senators LaFollette of Wisconsin, and Bristow of Kansas, introduced their amendments to that measure, and spoke in favor of them and against the specific features of the pending bill.

Senator LaFollette excoriated President Taft's administration, not only with reference to the tariff legislation proposed, but also on his conservation policies. Senator Bristow renewed his fight against the present sugar tariff, and urged the repeal of the "Sixteen Dutch Standard" test on imported sugar, which he declared operates entirely in the interests of the American Sugar Refining company.

Hoping to reach a vote on the reciprocity bill next week, which Chairman Penrose of the Senate Finance committee regards as "next to a certainty," leaders on both sides of the Senate chamber are figuring seriously on the subsequent program. Most of them have counted upon getting away after perfunctory votes on the Democratic free list and woolen bills, but yesterday it became evident that other legislation will be pressed for consideration. The friends of the Arizona-New Mexico statehood and re-apportionment bills especially will demand votes, as will advocates of the campaign publicity bill.

There is an agreement on an amendment to the statehood bill eliminating the judiciary recall question, which would render the measure generally satisfactory, but the understanding does not extend to the insurgent Republicans, and there is possibility of trouble among them. It is strongly probable, however, that an adjustment will be reached on this measure.

Much politics is involved in the apportionment bill, and if it gets through at all it will be so only after extended discussion.

Senator LaFollette expects to occupy most of the session today and Saturday with the continuation of his opposition to reciprocity.

In his speech against reciprocity he reviewed, act by act, the administration of President Taft in unsparing terms and declared that the contest involved was the "fight between the plain people and the confederated privilege."

"Considered as a measure of reciprocity," said Senator LaFollette of the Canadian agreement, "it violates every tariff principle of reciprocity heretofore expressed in the platform declarations of the Republican party and recommended by former Republican Presidents. Considered as a tariff bill, it violates every tariff principle and platform promises upon which William H. Taft was elected President of the United States."

"In the beginning it was heralded as a blessing to consumers. So was the tariff bill of 1909. It promises to reduce duties for the benefit of the people. It reduces no duties, the effect of which can ever reach the people, but it does not reduce duties for the millers, the packers, Standard Oil the brewers, the coal combines and in some measure for the already grossly protected interests."

"It is nothing that it pretends to be and professes to be nothing that it is. It is a little brother to the Payne-Aldrich bill, the greatest legislative wrong."

BOTTLE BLOWERS
AT CONVENTION
TO VISIT NEWARK

Columbus, Ohio, July 14.—Opposition to the proposed amalgamation of the Glass Bottle Blowers' Association of the United States and Canada with the American Flint Glass Workers' Union is being led by President D. A. Hayes, of the former organization, and in a statement given out today he predicted the defeat of the proposed merger. The bottle blowers will go to Newark, today to inspect plants in that city where automatic machines are installed.

GILBERT STOPS RALLY OF VETS IN NINTH INNING ALLOWING HALE TO WIN

Kihm, Gray and Queisser Hit at Opportune Times, Scoring Men Ahead—Kihm Plays Great Game at First—900 People Witness Great Game With League Leaders.

Pitcher Hale had an exceedingly narrow escape from a defeat at the hands of Manager Knoll's "five thousand dollar beauties" in the last game of the Dayton series Thursday afternoon, and he has no one to thank but Lefty Gilbert, the champion relief man of the Newark club. With two men on bases, second and third at that, Gilbert went in to stop the scoring machine of the visitors which had apparently taken on new life. The memory of Gilbert's effective work in the opening game of the series lingered in the minds of Knoll & Co., and the two hitters which followed both lifted long flies to the outfield and ended the suspense.

The game Thursday was of the same hair-raising variety as that witnessed the day before. It was filled with situations which caused the fans to suffer near heart failure. But Newark fans like these games and their loyalty in giving continuous support to the team throughout the game has much to do towards encouraging the fighting spirit which has been strongly in evidence during the Dayton series.

Catcher Queisser, Gray and Kihm were the hitters who yesterday batted in the runs that made it possible for Newark to win. Queisser sent two men across and his double in the eighth inning scored Craven with what proved to be the winning run. In the field, Dummy Kihm pulled off some great plays. Craven in left cut off a runner at the plate with a perfect throw and Pendry at third made a pretty catch of a drive from George's bat. This play retired the side with one man on base. Had the hit gone safe it would have been a double play and the runner would not have scored from first on the hit.

Taking it all in all, the game was as exciting as the one the day before if not more so.

Manager Knoll refused the request of a number of Molders who wanted to see Pitcher Somers work. He sent George, a southpaw, to the mound in an effort to take the last game of the series. Manager Pendry's choice was Hale who got such a bad start in the opening game. Hale worked nicely. He allowed but seven well scattered hits, three of them very scratchy, up to the ninth inning when three clean bingles caused Pendry to hoist the distress signal and call on Gilbert for help.

Dayton scored the first run of the game in the second inning when with two out, Debord walked and stole second. He went to third on a wild pitch and scored on Rohrer's crackling double to left.

Newark got this one back in the fourth when Pendry opened the frame with a pretty double over DeHaven's head. Wickland lifted one to Benson at second and Gray singled to center field scoring Pendry.

Two more were counted in the sixth when Gray got a single to right as an opener. Craven went out at the first station, Cameron fielding the ball and Benson covering. Kihm hit a hot one to third which carried off Kirkpatrick's slings. Gray coming in from second, Queisser singled to left Kihm being held at second. Hale bunted. Rohrer fielding the ball to first, leaving home plate unprotected. Kihm came all the way from second on the bunt.

In the eighth Gray was called on to strike, doubtful decisions at that and Craven drew a pass. Kihm swung viciously at a bender, but the ball landed in front of the plate and the first baseman was thrown out. With Craven on second, Queisser lifted one to the right field fence for two bases and Craven crossed the rubber with the fourth tally.

In the seventh DeHaven singled and Cameron duplicated the stunt. Debord sacrificed and Rohrer singled to left, scoring DeHaven from third. Cameron attempted to score on the same play but Craven made a beautiful peg to Queisser and Cameron was retired. Pendry pulled down George drive and the side was retired.

In the ninth Knoll singled. Gray got DeHaven's low hit to right and Cameron singled and Debord sent a dandy through the pitcher's box to center. Fearful of results, Pendry warming up for several innings at the big Southpaw went in with all chances against him. Dayton needed but one run to tie the score and two to lead. Gilbert caused Rohrer to lift one to Wickland and Compton was sent in by Knoll to produce the necessary pinch hit. He lifted one just over Kihm's head that looked good for a hit but Gray ran in and got the ball retching the last man and saving the game.

HOW WOULD YOU LIKE TO BE THE UMPIRE?
I asked Tim Hurst what the closest and hardest decision he ever made was. "It was in Baltimore," he said. "Jennings was on first, McGraw on second, and Stenzel at the bat. They started a double steal. Jennings, as he passed Long, hit him and Long jumped into Collins. Tenney tried to hold McGraw, but he broke away, reached second and kicked the ball out of Lowe's hands. Stenzel swung his bat and hit Robinson on the hand trying to keep him from throwing. Bobby tripped me and poked me in the back to keep me from seeing and Stenzel spiked my foot."
"How did you decide it?" I inquired.
"I called it a foul ball, sent the runners back and kicked Stenzel on the shins," said Tim. —American Magazine.

The Offense Defined.
General Craft, an attorney of Terre Haute, Ind., was once called into a jewelry store in the town to settle a dispute.
"See here, general," explained the proprietor, "if I take a watch from Mr. Smith here and make repairs that cost me 10 cents and then keep it hanging up for a week and charge him $5 when he comes to get it, what percentage do I make? We have been figuring for half an hour and only get up to 500 per cent, and that is but a dollar, so we decided to leave it to you."
"Well," said the general gravely, "you must know that it is a fact, and it has been demonstrated by calculating machines, that at certain points in progressive numbers the law governing them changes. In your case the law would change long before it reached the $5 and would run out of percentage and into what is known and designated as larceny."

A GRACEFUL AT HOME FROCK OF STRIPED TAFFETA.

Taffeta silk is again the vogue but the new taffeta is much softer and more supple than the old style stiff stuff which was used for rusting petticoats. This pretty little house frock is made of pale green and white striped taffeta, a fichu of white chiffon being draped into a broad grille of plain, pale green silk. The skirt at the left is draped from the waistline and the drapery is caught under at the front and gathered slightly to an invisible lining. This frock has the effect of a deep décolletage, but an almost invisible yoke of flesh pink chiffon comes up to the base of the throat.

When firm turn out on a dish, garnish with chopped pickles and a little freshly grated lemon peel and serve at once with a French dressing.

FEET SO SORE COULDN'T WALK DOWN STAIRS—

TIZ Cured Her Quick.

If you have sore feet, tired feet, sweaty feet, lame feet, tender feet, smelly feet, corns, callouses or bunions, read what happened to Mrs. Crockett of Johnsonville. TIZ DID IT. Mr. Crockett says: "After the second treatment she walked down stairs with one foot at a time. She has not been able to walk down stairs before in past five years, except by stepping down on each step with one foot at a time. This is remarkable. Send five more boxes."

No matter what ails your feet or what under heaven you have used without getting relief, just use TIZ. It's different. It acts right off. It cures sore feet to stay cured. It's the only foot remedy ever made that acts on the principle of drawing out all the poisonous exudations which cause sore feet. Powders and other remedies merely clog up the pores. TIZ cleans them out and keeps them clean. You will feel better the first time it's used. Use it a week and you can forget you ever had sore feet. There is nothing on earth that can compare with TIZ for sale at all druggists, 25c per box, or direct, if you wish, from Walter Luther Dodge & Co., Dodge Building, Chicago, Ill.

BROKE INTO THE SLAUGHTER HOUSE AND STOLE HIDES

Miller's slaughter house was burglarized some time Thursday night or Friday morning early and a number of salted hides stolen. Thursday the police arrested Clyde Loper and O. D. Priest, charging them with the burglary and theft. One of the men confessed and told how the other man got in a window at the slaughter house. The case will be disposed of later.

TROUBLE IN THE FOREIGN COLONY

Trouble in Newark's foreign colony nearly clogged the wheels of justice in police court this morning. Twenty of the foreigners were arraigned before Mayor Ankele on a charge of fighting and each was fined $10 and costs. The trouble was a free for all fight in the colony with headquarters at the west end of Wilson street. Two of the warriors were what they termed Macedonian-Roumanians, and it seems that the feeling between this brand of a Roumanian and the genuine unadulterated article, is something akin to the legendary strife between the Irish and the Orangemen. The crisis came Thursday night when the Macedonian brand was pounced upon by real article and badly beaten up.

BUCKSKIN BEN CARNIVAL CO.

The Buckskin Ben Carnival company is nightly drawing huge crowds to the carnival grounds in Eleventh street. The shows are unusually attractive for this kind of an amusement and all the features are even cleverer than represented. There are many open air exhibitions given free and Thursday evening saw a merry throng. The company has an excellent band which nightly furnishes a program replete with all the latest popular song successes. The grind of the organ on the merry-go-round together with the yells of the ballyhoo man prove an attraction even to those who do not care to attend the shows.

Hazen Morse's 2 Famous Remedies

Morse's Glycerole

—a non-secret, purely-vegetable compound, scientifically blended. It braces, tones and invigorates the debilitated system—calms and strengthens the nerves.

It acts as a tonic—not as a depressant—as do many so-called nerve-quieting remedies, which contain opiates, and which may give temporary relief.

It is a true specific for sleeplessness, brain fog, nervous debility, feverishness, hysteria, etc. It builds up the convalescent and quickens feeble, teething infants—its palatable to the most sensitive stomach. Prices 50c and $1 per bottle.

Morse's Dyspepsyn

[Known in Canada and Great Britain as Maltopepsyn]

—Is a wonderful tonic for the entire digestive tract. It revives the secretions of gastric juices, arouses the sluggish liver and frees the clogged intestines. Exact formula on each bottle.

Honorable O. Bayfield, the celebrated London physician, scientist and writer, in a letter to Mr. Morse, in part said: "I have used your preparation, Maltopepsyn (Dyspepsyn, in U. S.), for a number of years and have entirely ceased using any other."

The London Lancet, the highest medical authority in the world, in reviewing Maltopepsyn (Dyspepsyn) says: "In this preparation are skillfully combined the digestive agents—pepsin, pancreatin and diastase, with the lacto-phosphate of lime." Apart from its trustworthy nature as an efficient aid to digestion, it possesses properties which make it of TONIC VALUE. This formula is an excellent one. Prices 50c and $1 per bottle.

Mr. Hazen Morse, in arranging with T. J. Evans and other dealers in Newark to distribute his remedies it was distinctly understood that the dealer selling should exercise every well-meaning, dissatisfied purchaser the purchase price without question. Mr. Morse has letters from over 1,000 physicians praising his remedies. This is why he has confidence in their efficiency.

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

Fruit Is Best in the Morning.
It is an old saying that fruit is golden in the morning and leaden in the evening. The processes of digestion are more rapid in the morning, and hence fruits, which are more quickly digested, are more appropriate. A good practice is to eat only an apple in the morning, the dinner in the evening, not later than 6, and a lunch of only one or two articles of substantial food at noon. This plan is easily adopted, and the beneficial results are soon apparent after the system has become adapted to it.

Those Republicans blaming the treasury shortage on Democrats remind one of the case of the man, who was arrested while at the head of a mob that was chasing a supposed thief. When searched at the police station, the stolen articles were found in the pockets of the mob leader. Republican general assemblies looted the treasury to the extent of $4,000,000 by making appropriations exceed receipts; by starting expensive buildings for which there was no urgent need and squandering the people's money for extravagant projects.

Inflicted upon the American people in half a century."

The Speaker said that the pending legislation based on the Canadian pact was so related to the "strange course of Mr. Taft upon the tariff question and the protective policies which he was elected to maintain," that the real stable worth of his recommendations could not be fairly judged without reviewing the more important issues involved in his election and the most important acts of his administration. "Continuing his criticism of Mr. Taft's administration, Senator LaFollette said:

"Throughout the first pages of his first general message, he found no space to say a word for the great measures that had made the name of his predecessor revered and loved everywhere in the United States. Is it to be wondered at that the Republican voter in 1910 felt that he had several scores to settle?"

"A President whom he had elected, believed him to be the custodian of the Roosevelt policies, had dismissed the Roosevelt Cabinet and appointed in their places men, in the main, of known hostility to those policies."

"In all the record of this administration no more glaring example is presented of the complete surrender to special interests and the complete reversal of Roosevelt's progressive policies than that shown in dealing with the amendments to the interstate commerce act. It would have been difficult to have framed a piece of legislation affecting interstate commerce more harmful to the public interest than the bill drafted by the Attorney General and recommended to Congress by President Taft."

Clever Paris Beggars.
Beggings is forbidden on the Paris boulevards. But one day recently a pale, poorly dressed man was seen humbly approaching various pedestrians. He was evidently not used to begging, and as he told this pathetic story without the requisite boldness people passed him by unnoticed. A man dressed in black stepped up to him and showed him a card. He carried a thick stick and wore a heavy mustache and thick boots, which are the outward and visible signs, with a multicolored ribbon in the buttonhole, of a detective in plain clothes.

"Now, then, get out of this or I'll run you in," he said roughly. Then in a lower tone, "Poor chap!" and furiously he gave the man some silver.

People had seen him do it, and, cheering the kind hearted policeman, they, too, gave to the poor beggar. A few minutes afterward in a side street the two men divided the spoils and moved off separately to ply their trade elsewhere. The detective wasn't a detective at all, but a beggar made up for the part.

Finally Lost It.
"I may have lost my golf ball," thought the old man as he crept on all fours round the bush into which it had rolled, "but I will not lose my temper." So he continued to grovel and grope and to wear a persuasive, patient smile. His knees bagged, his back ached horribly, and the bush bestowed upon his hands a generous quantity of thorns. But he refused to discard his smile and kept on repeating:

"No; I will not lose my temper. I will not!"

Suddenly the elusive ball caught his eye. Flopping flat, he stretched his hands toward it, grasped it among its nest of thorns and gingerly withdrew it.

"Hoity-toity!" exclaimed an old woman behind him. "You ought to be ashamed, bird nesting at your time of life!"

And then he did lose his temper.—London Answers.

A Fearless Quaker.

Uncle Abe was noted for his ability to turn his clouds inside out and show the silver lining. If any particular cloud was dark through and through he wisely supplied it with the lining from another. His yoke of steers had taken the cash prize on the first day of the fair. On the second some new contestants were entered, and Abe would probably be outclassed. But, as usual, he had made the most of good fortune while it lasted.

"Aren't you quaking in your boots?" a friend asked.

Abe thrust out a foot clad in new tan leather.

"Why, yes," he said; "I am quaking in my boots. But when I got that $50 yesterday I made sure they should be new boots. It ain't so bad to quake if you can do it in new boots."—Youth's Companion.

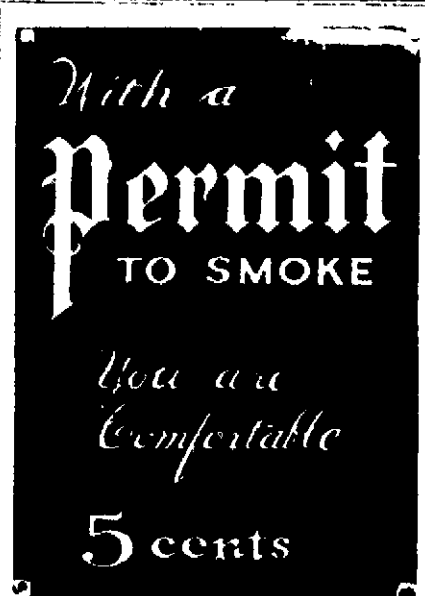

Ghiberti's Famous Doors.

The world renowned doors of the baptistry at Florence represent nearly the entire life work of Ghiberti. He began the first pair when he was twenty-three years old, and when he finished the second pair he was seventy-three. Excepting the three statues outside Or San Michele and one or two minor works, these two pairs of bronze doors represent his labors for half a century. These doors, declared by Michaelangelo "fit to be the gates of paradise," represent the book of Genesis in all the depth of its meaning, and the skill of the artist has never been overpraised. It is impossible to exaggerate the glory of the work, and if one has the time and money the sight of those wonderful doors is well worth the trip to Florence.—New York American.

Pull or Push?

Is there any such thing as pull? Does the horse pull the cart, or does he simply push on his collar and so draw it along? Would you pull a weight that was fastened to your cartails, or in that case would you simply be pushing against your clothes? Do our political officeholders always get their jobs through their own push, or is it usually a matter of pull? This is an interesting problem. Think it over.—New York Globe.

A mere man is apt to wonder if women ever really mean it when they kiss each other.

PEPPYS, THE DIARIST.

Pronouncing the Name of the Garrulous Old Gossip.

Lovers of Peppys often dispute over the correct pronunciation of his name. The form Peppys is the one that has chief authority on its side, and it is according to analogy in other like spellings, such as Wemyss, pronounced Weems. Peppys still holds good at Cambridge and dates from its bearer's own time. It is also retained by the representatives of Samuel's sister, the Pepps Cockerell family, who are heirs to his fame and some of his property. The late Rev. J. W. Ebsworth, an indefatigable collector and editor of ballads, adopts this pronunciation in his pleasing stanzas on "A Gossip at Deptford."

For instance:
The state has no servant of all whom she keeps
Like my squab little friend, who no labor does shrink.
The pattern of quill driving clerks, Sam Peppys.

A disturbing element in the discussion is that the branch of the family represented by the Earl of Cottenham pronounce the name Peppys.

No bearer of the name has ever been known as Pepp, though Ashby Sterry, a respected member of the Peppys club, follows this common but erroneous pronunciation in this excellent epigram, published in the London Graphic November, 1901:

There are people, I'm told—some say there are heaps—
Who speak of the talkative Samuel as Pepps.
And some so precise and pedantic their step is,
Who call the delightful old diarist Peppys.
But those I think right, and I follow their steps
Ever mention the garrulous gossip as Pepps!

Woes of Translators.

The way of translators is hard, especially where African native languages are concerned. Favorite English hymns, translated for the benefit of the natives, sometimes contain renderings not altogether faultless. "Go labor on, spend and be spent," was given as "Go blunder on," etc. The most extravagant instance, however, was the hymn, "Lord, Dismiss Us With Thy Blessing," which the natives were exhorted to join fervently in singing. Months later the missionaries discovered that what they really had been singing was, "Lord, kick us out, softly, softly."—Glasgow Herald.

To Meet an Emergency.

"Madam, have you any old clothes to give away?"
"I have a suit belonging to my husband, but I fear it is too big for you."
"Oh, that will be all right. You just set me out a square meal and watch me eat enough so that I can fill it."—Washington Times.

A Protection.

"Any man looks stupid when he wears a monocle," said the critical girl.
"That's why so many of us fellows wear 'em," replied the candid youth.
"If we happen to look stupid we blame the monocle."—Washington Star.

EASY STREET.

I leased a house on Easy Street, where nabobs rule and reign, and pretty soon I beat retreat way back to Poor Man's Lane. With rich men always jostling near, fat old bond-holding lads, I couldn't stand the atmosphere—it reeked of greasy scents. I longed to talk of Sappho's poems, of singers loved and lost; they showed me their stately homes and how much they cost. This painting cost $10,000 bones, that statue cost a pile; my butter there, whose name is De-Jones, I brought from Britain's Isle. The desk you look at is no fluke—hildit it is with pearl; this pimpled person is a duke who's come to wed my girl. And so they talked, those wealthy guys, of money and of marks; and they had greenbacks in their eyes, and bullion in their hearts. And so I said: "This sort of talk has given me a pain; I'll don my overalls and walk clear back to Poor Man's Lane. There men discuss the baseball game, the latest yellow crime, a chromo in a rustic frame, a book by Oppenheim. There men are human and the boys can talk of sane affairs; they are not dancing to the noise of bughouse bulls and coats."

THE KING CAN DO NO WRONG.

Neither Can He Ever Die, According to British Law.

It is a curious point of British law that the king never dies, or, to put it in another way, it would be useless for any barrister to argue that the ruler's predecessors have really died, since the utmost the law will admit is that there may be a "demise of the crown," meaning, of course, simply that there has been a transfer of the royal authority from one person to another.

It is a maxim that "the king can do no wrong," and under the law he would not be held personally responsible for any crime or "tort" that he chose to commit at any time. At any rate, we are assured by high constitutional authorities that the law should actually and literally be so construed and that the statutes hold that any injury his majesty might inflict upon a subject must be ascribed to the king's advisers. One thing seems to be certain, and that is that his majesty can under no circumstances whatsoever be arrested. Nor, moreover, could his goods be distrained or taken in execution should he fail to meet his liabilities.

A quaint feature of British law is that in theory the king is present at the law court at every sitting, though he might in point of fact actually be on the continent or elsewhere. It follows, therefore, that it is impossible to nonsuit him as plaintiff should he not put in an appearance when his case is called, since the law specifically states that the king is there. In a similar sense the king is always constructively present in parliament, though he be in fact thousands of miles from his shores.

His majesty is under the law the nominal guardian of all infants, idiots and lunatics, and to him is granted the sole right to print the Bible, the Book of Common Prayer and all acts of parliament in the United Kingdom. It has been stated, furthermore, that should he so desire the king could forbid the printing of any or all of them anywhere within his dominions.—Harper's.

MINED THE ROAD.

The Volunteers Wiped Out the Foe, but It Was a Sad Story.

"I can tell you the saddest thing that happened during the whole war," said an old negro to a group of listeners. The story was this. One night it was reported that the town was in peril of attack from the enemy, and the fighting forces were quickly mustered. One of the volunteers conceived the idea of mining the road and touching the fuse in time to annihilate the foe. There was plenty of powder, and the scheme was adopted. The rest of the defenders stood some on one side of the road, some on the other, ready to discharge their rifles into what might be left of the assailants.

The day passed without incident, but as the night wore on the strain of the situation began to tell on the nerves of the defenders. Presently, however, there was the sound of hoofs on the highway, approaching rapidly. Such was the state of mind of the defenders that the sounds appeared to indicate the coming of a mighty cavalry force. It was a terrifying moment. A vivid flash lighting up the scene as the first horseman reached the spot told that the mine had been exploded and it had done its work. There was not a vestige of an army to be seen when the smoke cleared away excepting the scattered fragments of a big black mule.

The party laughed as the old man concluded his tale. "That's a good enough story," said one of them, "but what was there so sad about it?"

"It was my mule, sah," was the old negro's pathetic reply.

A Battle of Languages.

Three or four languages strove for mastery in ancient Gaul, which is now France. German was spoken by the 12,000 Frank invaders. Popular Latin was spoken by 6,000,000 Gallo-Romans. Literary Latin was the language of the church and of literature. Low Latin was afterward the language of the administration. German was the first to succumb. In four centuries it ceased to be understood by the soldiers, and in seventy years more it had become an object of ridicule. But it survives in more than 900 words, expressing the things of government, law and war, and thus forms no insignificant part of the French language.

Corpse Rings.

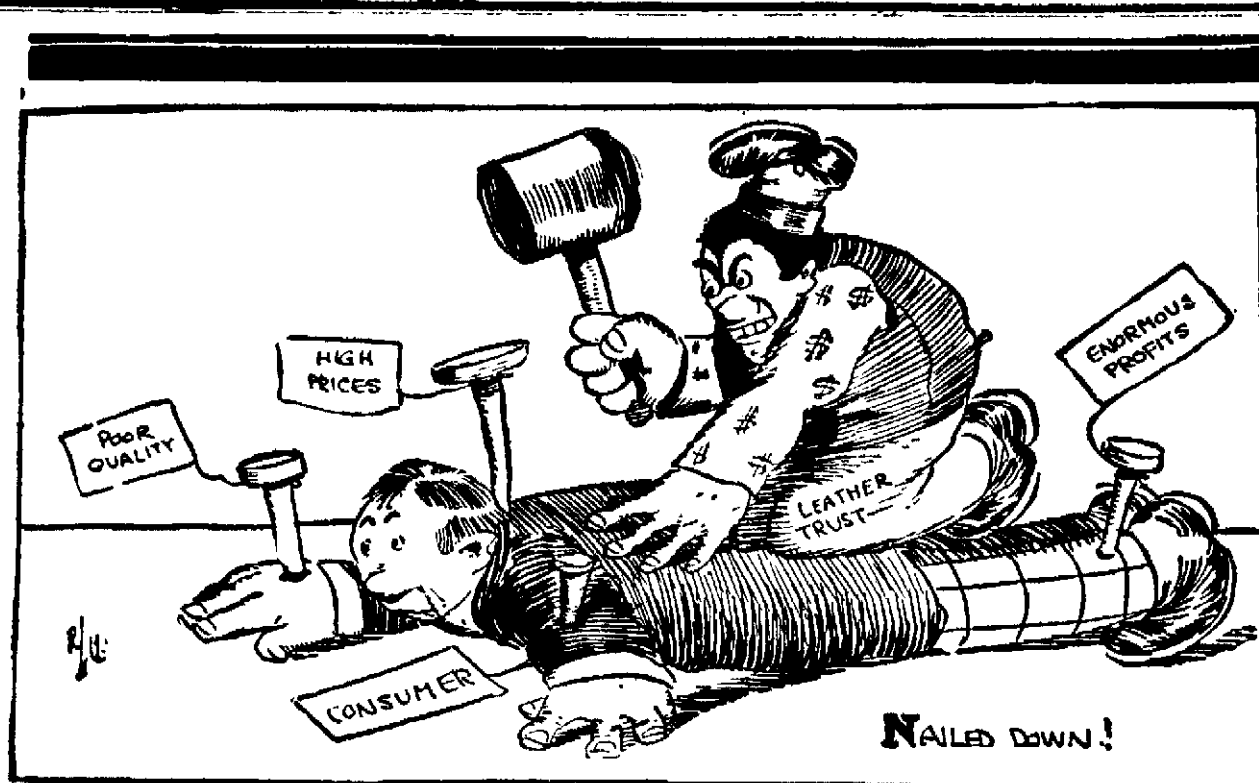

The sailor of the old fashioned shell-back class always wears a corpse-ring. This is a plain band of silver or gold, inscribed within with the sailor's name and port. Corpse rings are worn for the purpose of identification in case of death by drowning through shipwreck, etc. The shell-back sailor can never swim, and he looks forward calmly to diving suddenly beneath the sea. Indeed, he usually prefers such a death to a lingering one in hospital.—Buffalo Express.

How He Got Out.

"No," said Woody, "I don't see Wieman at all any more. He has dropped out of our social set."
"He tells a different story," remarked Sinnerickson.
"Indeed?"
"Yes; he claims to have climbed out."—Catholic Standard.

The Optimist.

"You're looking blue, doc." What's the matter?"
"Well, I'll tell you. A patient I began to treat died this morning."
"Ah, cheer up. He might have died even if you hadn't been called."—Toledo Blade.

LIFE OF THE SHOWMAN IS NOT HARDSHIP

Men in Different Departments Have Plenty of Time at Their Disposal—Robinsons Big Shows Here Monday, 24th.

There are two questions that are invariably asked show people by a stranger, and to answer them before they are asked will save not a little embarrassment. The two questions are: "When do you sleep?" and "Is it not a hard life you lead?" The last question is generally accompanied by the remark, "I do not see how you stand it. It would kill me."

There are many who have grown old and gray haired in the profession and are still active. There are new beginners who are putting on the spangles and tights for the first time this season and to both of them the questions are to be laughed at. They do not think that they are slightest wher somnambulist desert is being served neither do they think that they work near as hard as the bank clerk or lady stenographer. More to their satisfaction they are paid a hundred per cent better and at all times are drinking in God's pure air.

That they are right may be gleaned from one day of the life of a performer. They arise in the morning at any time that will get them to the lot in time for breakfast which is served until 10 o'clock. After breakfast they dress for parade and are out for one hour on parade. After parade they eat luncheon and are at liberty to do as they please until time for the tournament that precedes the afternoon show. This occupies about 15 minutes of their time. Following this they do whatever is their part of the performance and this never takes over ten minutes. They are then at leisure after having had their dinners until the evening performance when they have the same routine as they did in the afternoon. After the evening performance they repair to the cars and can be in bed every night before ten o'clock if they so desire, but generally they will sit in the dining car or outside on the grass and visit for an hour before retiring. That is the day's work of the performer and during the twelve hours he has not worked actually two full hours. Now for the workingmen. The grooms and canvassmen are up at day break if the show has reached town, and if not as soon as the show does reach town. The grooms make two trips from the train to the lot with their teams and wagons. They feed their horses and are done until the street parade goes out. When the parade returns they have nothing to do but feed their teams until it is time to make the return trip at night from the grounds to the show train. They have nothing to do around the tents nor do they assist in the loading of the train. When a groom is in charge of four horses he has a helper. When he is in charge of six or eight he is allowed two of these helpers.

The canvassmen are up with the grooms. They have all to do with the erection of tents and crews are allotted to each tent. Thus the menagerie has one crew, the big top another, the side shows still another and thus along the lines of tents. When the tents are up their work is done until it is time to tear down at night and it is generally the case that the tents are all in position before the parade is back to the lot. The canvassmen have nothing to do with the horses nor with the loading of the trains.

The trainmen, or razor-backs, as they are called around the show, unload the trains and load them again at night. They generally are through unloading in three hours from the time the show reaches town and have nothing to do until evening when the first wagon comes down from the lot. Now this answers the questions you will not have to ask when the John Robinson 10 Big Shows Combined comes to town Monday, July 24, and from the explanations it will be seen that it is not such a very hard life and that all get plenty of sleep. Just here it will not be out of place to add that the sleeping accommodations with this show are of the very finest. All of the sleeping cars are the most up to date Pullman. There are no hotels and few homes that can boast of beds that coax sleep and rest any more successfully than do these.

Very Strong.

"I see," said Slaters, "that our old friend Blinks had a strong article in one of the Boston papers the other day."

"Really?" said Blinks incredulously. "I'd never have believed that of old Blik. What was it?"

"A recipe for pickled onions," said Slaters.—Harper's Weekly.

Long Drawn Out.

Little Elmer had just been given a piece of pie. "Are you going to give me another piece, mamma?" he asked.

"Why do you ask, Elmer?" she queried.

"'Cause if you ain't I'll eat this piece real slow," was the reply.—Chicago News.

Stomach Trouble Often Presents Symptoms That May Be Mistaken for Signs of Other Disorders.

Palpitation of the heart does not imply that the vital organ is diseased.
Pain in the back does not necessarily mean kidney disease.
Headache does not often indicate that there is anything wrong with your head.

All of these symptoms are caused by stomach trouble and when this is righted the alarming symptoms disappear. If you have them look to the condition of your stomach for the cause before you start to treat the symptoms rather than the disease.

If you are suffering from stomach trouble you cannot do better than follow the advice of Mr. J. S. Barnhart, a farmer, on R. F. D. No. 8, Butler, Pa., who says:

"When living near Mt. Vernon,
Ohio, I became seriously ill from stomach trouble and finally had to give up my work as school teacher. I had no appetite and what food I did eat would lie heavily on my stomach. My bowels were irregular and I was reduced in weight from 160 to 130 pounds. I was nervous, could not get a good night's sleep and had no ambition to work.
My back ached and there were pains through my arms and shoulders. My heart was weak and the least exertion would cause it to palpitate. In the morning I would be dizzy on getting up from bed and there would be black specks before my eyes. My head would ache all over but particularly in the back. I was pale and had a hacking cough which alarmed my friends.

"The doctor treated me for stomach trouble but didn't help me much and then I tried several medicines which were recommended to me but with no relief. The druggist on receipt of price,

LICKING CASES REACH SUPREME COURT OF U. S.

Notice has been served on C. L. V.
Holtz, treasurer of Licking county, and Auditor C. L. Riley to appear before the Supreme court of the United States at Washington, D. C., within thirty days from date, in the case of George Welsh, plaintiff in error against the Auditor and Treasurer as defendants in error. This is the case of the persons who were placed on the liquor tax duplicate in November, 1909, by the Auditor of State, and as soon as they had been served with notice by the County Treasurer they got out a restraining order in Common Pleas court, which was heard by Judge Wickham and dismissed at plaintiff's costs. The case was then appealed to the Circuit court and heard in that court March 29, 1910. This court sustained the lower court. It was then appealed to the Supreme Court of Ohio and was recently heard by that tribunal by which the two lower courts were sustained. The plaintiff again appealed to the Supreme court of the United States where the case is to be heard and decided in the near future.

CONSPIRACY CHARGE FOR CONTROL OF ICE

New York is responsible for many deaths and much suffering during the controls the whole supply of natural duces, and a third the market for both.

GOOD RACES AT MATINEE YESTERDAY

BEAU IDEAL CLIPS OFF HALF MILE IN 1:13 IN BEST RACE OF AFTERNOON.

Seven Starters Make Class C Trot Interesting Though Time Was Not Fast—Prizes Offered Next Thursday.

Newark's Madison Driving club offered some excellent entertainment for the lovers of horse racing, Thursday afternoon at the Mountbatters' race course, four interesting races being pulled off.

Probably the most exciting race of the afternoon was the Class B. Pace with three entries. The best time in this race was 1:13 for the half mile, and Beau Ideal after breaking in the first heat, won the second by a nose.
Patsy B., coming in so close behind that it was difficult to pick the winner except for those who were under the wire. By an unusual burst of speed in the last light, Beau Ideal won the third heat and the race.

The first heat of the first race, the Class A trot, was also fast for a matinee meet, the time being 1:13 1-2 for the half mile. Raintooth won this race in straight heats, doing the half mile just 30 seconds slower in the second heat. This race was close in the first heat, but in the second Sophie made a break and Raintooth won easily. The driving of Otto Jones, together with his melodious voice, which could be heard all the way around the track, made the race interesting.

Natural Gas gave Blue Bells a hard run for the decision in the second race,
the Class B trot, though Blue Bells won in straight heats. In each heat the horses finished side by side.

The Class C trot, while not as fast as some of the others, was highly interesting from the fact that there were seven starters. Topsy B. followed Penny R. closely in the first heat, and the next two heats were close with these two horses and George Direct right up in the running. Topsy B. won both the heats with Penny R. close behind and George Direct coming in a close third.

At the meet next Thursday afternoon prizes will be given again and this will have a tendency to make each driver exert his horse to its best efforts. The association extends a general invitation to the public and offers a good afternoon's entertainment free of cost, no charge being made at either the grandstand or grounds. The summarized results:

GRAY HAIR MAKES YOU LOOK OLD

A Simple Remedy Brings Back the Natural Color—Dandruff Quickly Removed.

How often one hears the expression, "She is gray and beginning to look old." It is true that gray hair usually denotes age and is always associated with age. You never hear one referred to as having gray hair and looking young.

The hair is generally the index of age. If your hair is gray you can't blame your friends for referring to you as looking old. You can't retain a youthful appearance if you allow your hair to grow gray. Many persons of middle age jeopardize their future simply by allowing the gray hair to become manifest. If your hair has become faded or gray, try Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, a preparation which a chemist, by the name of Wyeth devised a few years ago. It is simple, inexpensive and practical, and will banish the gray hairs in a few days. It is also guaranteed to remove dandruff and promote the growth of the hair.

It is a pleasant dressing for the hair, and after using it a few days, itching and dryness of the scalp entirely disappear.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle and is sold and recommended by all druggists.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

Blind Men Who
"Saw" the Elephant
"Saw" Differently

Elephant Kept Blind Men Wondering

THE children had been talking about a blind man they had seen during the day when it was time for them to bed. They agreed that they could think of nothing more dreadful than to lose their eyes, and they said they would always be careful not to do anything that might put out the eye of a playmate.

"Well," said daddy, "I will tell you a story about several blind men who wanted to examine an elephant. They had never seen such an animal, and they were curious to know what it looked like."

"Of course they had not seen an elephant," put in Jack. "How could they see one if they were blind?"

"But blind men always use the word 'see' when they speak," replied daddy. "They talk about 'seeing' things just as though they actually saw them, and they get a very good idea of the appearance of things by feeling of them. They can even tell what their friends and relatives look like by passing the fingers over their faces."

"Well, as I was saying, these blind men set out to 'see' the elephant. They knew it was a strange and unusual beast and unlike anything with which they were familiar. But they had no idea what the elephant was really like."

"The first one of the blind men who approached the elephant was a little cautious, but when he had told the keeper what he and his blind companions wanted to do he was assured that the elephant was not dangerous and could be handled safely. So the first man went forward to make an examination. The elephant, perhaps thinking that he was going to get some peanuts, stuck out his trunk, and the blind man got hold of it. He at once said, 'The elephant is very much like a wall.'"

"Another of the blind men got hold of the leg, and after feeling of it carefully he announced 'The elephant is like a tree.' Still another blind man got hold of the tusk, and he declared that the elephant had a strong resemblance to a bone, while another felt against the elephant's side and remarked, 'The elephant is like a wall.'"

"The last of the blind men got hold of the elephant's tail and he twisted it around carefully, and then expressed the opinion that there was little difference between the elephant and a rope."

"So you see," concluded daddy, "that the same animal may appear to be different to different persons."

"It is just the same," suggested Evelyn, "as Jack's Sunday school teacher not seeing him as our old Dimin does."

ROUND HOUSE FORCE TO WORK NINE HOURS

Chillicothe, July 14. Starting today by order of B. and O. Master Mechanic Hess the force at the round house will work nine hours a day. This is indeed encouraging after the weeks of short time the men have been putting in. More than thirty about sixty men have been examined preliminary to being assigned work in the B. and O. shops within the very near future.

Another innovation at the round house is a new system of keeping clean. The men are washing their hands and faces in a large bowl in the round house. This has been the number of every engine entering the round house and the local shops and shops.

A crowd of shops, one for each day of the month which are furnished with a plug in the engine is now in place. In this manner it is known just when an engine is due for a washing.

JAPANESE WAR SCARE.
This is a curious world. This world is full of paradox and irony. Singular and mysterious currents move it. Some of you may have heard occasional whispers of the awful war which the United States and Japan are about to fight or rather frenzied shrieks that such a war is imminent. It is absurd nonsense and silly of course but it is also interesting as a puzzle and a mystery always are. You have in New York I believe, a Society for Psychological Research which investigates uncanny things. It would do the world a great service if it would unravel the mystery of this international yet persistent war talk dispel this lightning like exercise this hodgepodge this tiresome spook—Baron Uchida.

What Chicago's Industrial Magazine, "Town Development," Says of Newark

"Record in a Six Months Campaign—The Solid Foundation Work Which Has Taken Place at Newark, Ohio, is an Indication That the Newark Board of Trade Has the Proper Conception of Town Development Work—How Surprising Results Were Obtained."

These words form the full page headlines over a seven column article in the June number of "Town Development," a bright, energetic monthly magazine published by Lewis D. Sampson of Chicago. The article illustrated with Newark cartoons, reproduction of headlines from Newark newspapers and reproduction of posters issued by the Board of Trade was written by Mr. Chalmers Lowell Pancoast.

By permission of Town Development the Advocate reproduces Mr. Pancoast's interesting article. It shows that the outside world is "taking notice" of Newark's progress and development.

In a whirlwind seven-hour membership campaign, the Newark (O.) Board of Trade secured 363 new members. And in a few days the membership jumped from only a few over a hundred to 630 active members.

This large increase in membership means that the business men of Newark are in harmony with the world-wide movement for bigger, better and more beautiful American cities. Getting 363 new members for the Board of Trade in seven hours and in Newark, like many other towns, there were business men who have made it a pastime of blocking progress, and it required hard work to awaken these dissatisfied business men.

But the time of any town drifting along and still remaining on the map has passed.

This is an age of town development, and no town that regards its future seriously can afford to close its eyes to the necessity of town improvement and publicity.

The boosters of Newark did not tise their town was to induce each citizen to improve the appearance of his property, thus making the town not only attractive, but a more healthful and desirable place in which to live.

The towns with houses that are well painted, lawns that are well cared for, streets that are clean, and which are characterized by an evident desire on the part of their citizens to make them attractive, are the towns that receive favorable comments from visitors and thus obtain the very best kind of advertising.

tion, showing the farming interests and Newark vainly endeavoring to reach the fruit on the tree with a broken ladder. The editorial said, "Give them a 'Good Roads' ladder and 'Progress and Boon to Business, Pleasure, No Mud, More Trade' and all the other varieties can be quickly gained."

Newspaper editorials, cartoons and the meetings of the Board of Trade aroused enough interest to result in the county commissioners making preliminary surveys, the proposal of a $200,000 bond issue, and the prompt action of the Good Roads committee, which has promised that at least 60 miles of good roads will be built within the year. Petitions signed by property owners have already been filed for good roads leading out of the town in four directions.

Next, along came Arbor Day and the Newark boosters were again found grasping an opportunity. Nearly 300 trees were purchased by the board and sold at cost to citizens, who planted them in the city. With interesting ceremonies, based on civic pride and town patriotism, 3500 school children assembled at the Court House Park and planted a large number of elm trees. Following this, a lecture by a tree surgeon before a Board of Trade gathering resulted in scientific treatment of decaying trees by a large number of citizens.

Newark's Board of Trade is aiming to make that town a better place to live in.

Through its efforts miles of new sidewalks on fifty streets are being put down. It is also striving to make improvements in the public parks, to preserve the trees, and to improve the public library and secure more playgrounds, and other practical city necessities, which in the past were considered as aesthetic.

This coterie of boosters has also conducted a "Keep Your Money At Home" campaign through the local newspapers and by means of cards (18x22) printed in colors. Many of the cards were framed and hung in offices, stores and display windows. It has also devised a plan to interest and entertain strangers. When traveling salesmen and strangers register at any of the hotels they find letters addressed to them personally. This letter contains an invitation for the stranger to call at the office of the Board of Trade and get acquainted. The secretary gives the stranger any information desired, and assures him of a willingness to assist him in getting in touch with the people or firms he may be seeking.

The stranger appreciates this attention. It makes him forget he is "a stranger in a strange town," and when he finds his name appearing among the personal items of the evening papers it makes him feel mighty friendly toward the Board of Trade secretary who has given him his name to the newspapers.

All this attention and courtesy has the direct profitable result of sending every visitor out of the city an enthusiastic booster for Newark, and in most cases an active talking advertisement for the town.

Another accomplishment of the members of this organization was the acquiring of the title to one of the most beautiful Country Club grounds and golf links in the state. The location secured was an old fort of the Mount Builders, which is valuable for its traditions and historical atmosphere. A modern club house, costing $10,000, was finished June 1st of this year. While the Country Club is not strictly a Board of Trade institution, it is made up largely of Board of Trade members.

After arousing interest in securing a stronger organization, a cleaner city, good roads, a city of shade trees, the next step in the campaign was to develop interest in more beautiful parks, gardens and flower beds.

Sixty prizes are being offered to boys and girls for growing the prettiest flower beds. In order to make the contest interesting and to secure a special effort from all children, one hundred dollars in cash prizes and thirty merchandise prizes are being offered.

The Board of Trade, through its civic improvement committee, presented the flower garden contest to 1320 school children, and every one expressed an earnest desire to enter the contest. Flower seeds were furnished without cost to the children. A strict condition of the contest is that the flower beds shall be planted and cared for by the boys and girls themselves.

For this contest the town has been divided into ten districts. In each district six prizes will be awarded, there being sixty prizes in all. In each of the ten districts three cash prizes of $5, $3 and $2, and three merchandise prizes will be awarded. The merchandise prizes, which were donated to the Board of Trade by public spirited merchants and business men, include such articles as gold stick pins, gold rings, fountain pens, clothing, mandolin, shoes, hat, bicycle horn, rocking chair, ball glove, magic lantern and almost every article a boy or girl might find useful and a pleasure to possess.

In the town development movement a playground committee has been so active that its endeavors have reached the state legislative halls. The playground bill, which passed the senate in the Ohio Legislature, gives to Newark the possession of the old Ohio canal at Newark for playground, street and park purposes. This was suggested to certain law makers by the Board of Trade at Newark. And in addition to this, the passage of a bill was secured permitting the school board to buy or lease lands for playgrounds.

The solution of the "Town Boy Problem" is hoped to be brought about through the equipment and regulation of public playgrounds, parks and open areas for recreation of the town's children.

The following extract taken from an address delivered at one of the regular meetings shows the sentiment which prevails in that body:

"Play is a necessity to every child and without we have quite starved out the best there is in childhood. The boy must have it, and if through our blindness we fail to provide it, or by city ordinances we close up every lawful channel, it will break out in some prank or outlet that leads the boy into the juvenile court or brands him as a lawbreaker or criminal."

"Proper playgrounds with competent supervision means healthy children and a better citizenship; and the city has no right to place restrictions against the proper physical development of our children, and without some adequate return for that which is taken away."

"The boy without a playground is rather to the man without a job. A playground to the healthy boy is as a safety valve to the boiler. A playground means better health, a fair chance for normal development and growth under the changing conditions of modern city life."

Another campaign which the Board of Trade has inaugurated was the raising of a fund of between $1000 and $2000 for the City Library. Following this, still another fund of $800 was raised to beautify the Court House Park, which is in

Card used in "SPEND YOUR MONEY AT HOME" Campaign. Measured 11x14, and was printed in two colors. Many were framed and placed in store windows, hung in offices and stores.

Through the local papers the Board of Trade offers free factory sites, cheap fuel and power and other perfected advantages. The citizens were told in many ways that more factories in the town would mean rapid development; that factories would increase the value of property and make it possible for every business interest and citizen to increase their earnings.

As a result of the factory campaign Newark has been selected as the location for railroad shops and an automobile truck factory and other small industries.

prove profitable. It pointed out that the only way in which it was possible to get more factories and families was to make the town attractive to both the capitalist and home-builder by improving the natural and acquired advantages.

The town development idea in Newark was not allowed to perish simply because a few were opposed to progress and better surroundings. This band of boosters decided to make a record which would make the town look like something on the map. In spite of set backs, prejudice, jealousy and indifference, the Board of Trade is bringing this town out before the world in its true light—that of a striving manufacturing center and a desirable residence city.

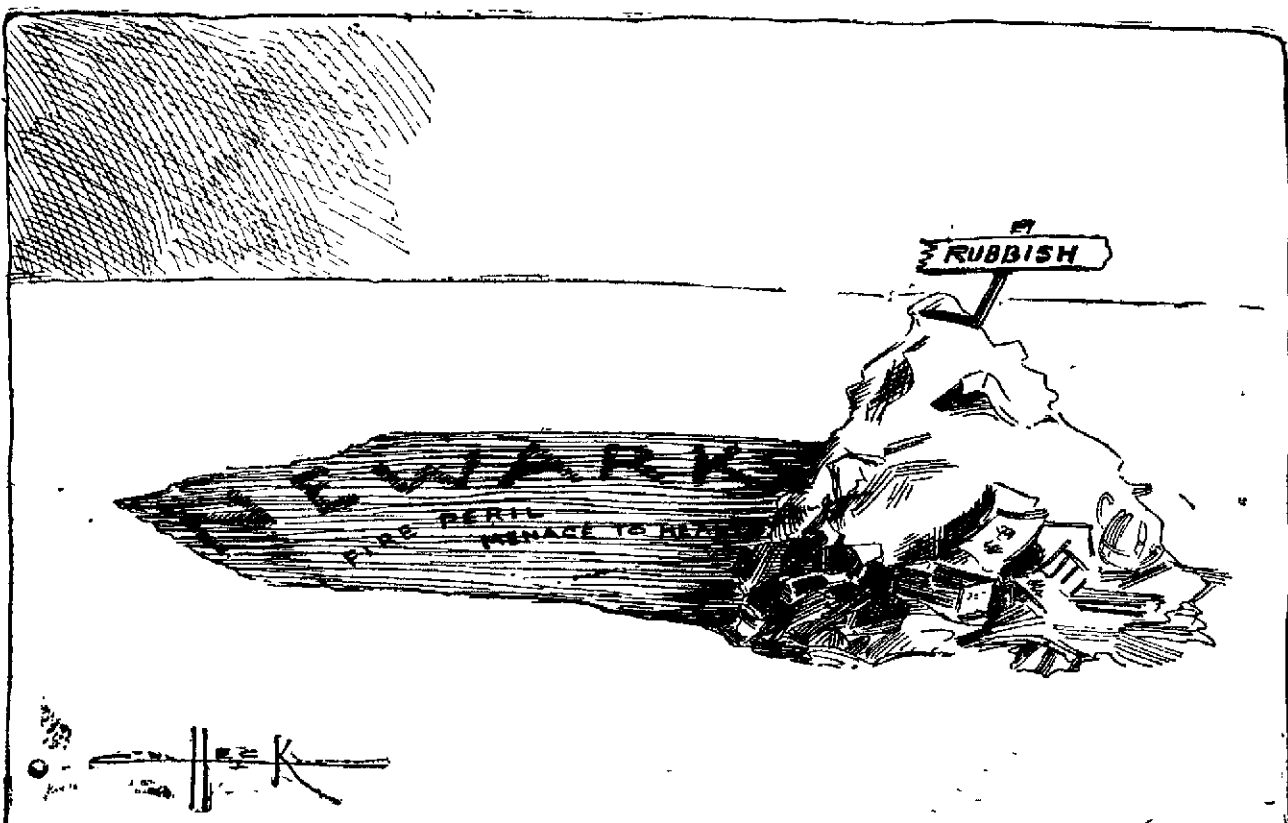

What this town has done in the short space of six months, and what it will do in the coming year, will be a good example for other towns to follow.

All citizens interested in making better and greater towns should get together and decide upon plans by which their towns may be peopled with good home-builders. For after all the best city builders are the true home builders, and true home builders are the town boosters.

A town may make many improvements within the city limits which are in themselves good advertisements for the place, but town development does not stop with improvement. Naturally, the work of town development should begin with making better streets, securing better lighting systems, good roads entering into the city, beautiful parks, playgrounds, etc. All these acquisitions become town assets. But in the final analysis of town development, advertising to the outside world is the secret of realizing a profit on the money invested in town improvements.

Wonderful possibilities are lying dormant in many excellent towns. Building and rebuilding is taking place at a heavy expense, all of which might be changed into profits for the town through the application of a little publicity of the right kind, in the right place and at the right time to bring these things to the attention of the right people.

"THE MENACING SHADOW"

Cartoon Used to Make Citizens Realize Importance of "Clean-Up" Day.

500 in a few days, was in itself quite an accomplishment in comparison with what other cities of 50,000 have done. But this feat, coupled with other big things this boosting body has done, and is doing, indicates that Newark has a most valuable asset in her business men, who have shown themselves to be imbued with the spirit of civic pride and patriotism. Newark made the right kind of a start.

In the first place there were two boosting organizations—the Board of Trade and the Business Men's Association. The leaders of both bodies recognized the lost energy and power which would result from the duplication of effort and expense by two organizations trying to boost the town from different angles.

The members of the two organizations had the good judgment to see that the only possible way in which the city could be made to grow rapidly and substantially was to "get-together" and pull-together for accomplishing the things most worth while for the development of the city.

At the beginning of the year 1911 the two organizations merged into the Newark Board of Trade. Then followed the whirlwind membership campaign, which was based on the watchwords of "Teamwork" and "Harmony."

The first step in practical town development is to develop a working organization big enough and strong enough to secure tangible results for both the business interests and the individual citizens of a town.

This first step was taken successfully by the Newark Board of Trade. The men who did the heavy work were filled with a determination to push forward over the mountainous obstacles which they encountered from the citizens who did not believe in helping their town.

And here is how they did it: The town was laid out in districts and a committee of twelve men turned the big membership trick.

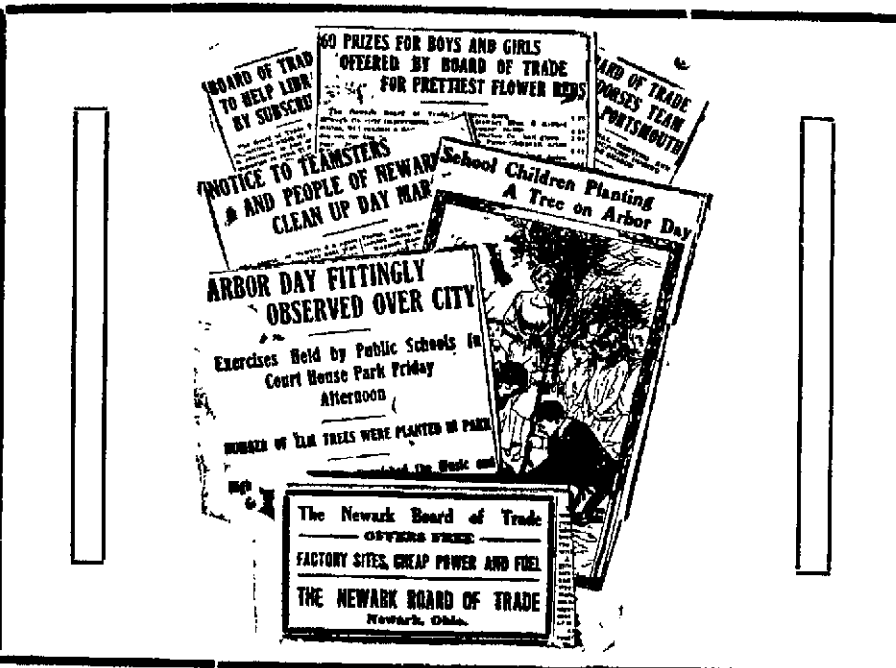

It is no easy task to get new members in the towns, that have run along fairly well for years without any pronounced attempt at boosting. So close their eyes. They saw and grasped the opportunity to build up a live, strong working organization through "getting together" and going after more members at the start.

Now, Newark's opportunity did not mean success. A hundred towns may have the opportunity to build up a working organization, but only ten may succeed.

Success in town development lies in the ability of the boosting organization to see the opportunity and Newark's "Clean-Up" day was announced in the local newspapers far enough ahead to make the people of Newark realize the vital importance of the movement. Editorials and cartoons were used to picture Newark in the shadow of a rubbish pile, and this shadow was labeled, "Fire Peral" and "Menace to Health." In this way the people were made to realize that by removing the rubbish the "Menacing Shadow" would be made to disappear.

then show the courage to seize and act upon it instantly.

Belief in one's town develops this courage.

The second step the Newark Board of Trade took in its town development campaign was to clean up the town.

The Board of Trade decided that one desirable way in which to adver-

in all parts of the city so much interest was aroused in the first "Clean-Up" day, that on the appointed day heaps of rubbish from yards, cellars, sheds, alleys and attics were placed in the streets in front of residences, stores and offices to be carted away.

The Teamsters' Union furnished forty teams and gave three hours' time gratis, and with the assistance of the City Public Service Department, more than 1300 wagonloads of rubbish were hauled to the dumping grounds in one day.

This generous observance of the movement by the citizens meant a saving of hundreds of dollars in medical bills, promoted the healthfulness of the city, furnished a protection against fire, and added to the beauty of the streets, yards and homes.

The next step in the campaign was to start a "Good Roads" movement. It was the opinion of the board that the town's growth depended on good roads entering the city from all directions.

For the purpose of stimulating more interest in the movement, the Newark Advocate published editorials, after the following, which were used to reinforce the "Good Roads" cartoon:

"The Good Roads movement strikes a responsive chord with the farmer and city man alike. One is as much interested in good roads as the other. They will derive equal benefit from good roads."

the center of the retail business district of the town. With these funds in hand the board has started to plan a new convention hall.

And while the members of this boosting and building organization were resting between campaigns they were very busy going after more factories and new industries. They had not only grasped the opportunity of building up the city, but were at the same time inviting more good citizens and business enterprises to come in.

The hundreds of new workers which will be brought into the town by the new factories will increase the purchasing power of all citizens. The factory employees will build homes and raise families in the town where their interests center. It is here they will invest and spend their money, each year becoming a more important part of the community.

The Board of Trade thoroughly explained all this, and gave the citizens other good reasons why a boosting and building campaign would

LEGION OF HONOR.

The Order That Was Founded by the Great Napoleon.

THRIVED DESPITE RIDICULE.

The Despotie Corsican Proved by the inauguration of the Decoration That He Was a Keen Student of French Human Nature.

France owes the Legion of Honor to Napoleon. All orders of chivalry had been abolished by the revolution and had left a gap which it was not easy to fill. "They are mere geegaws," said Monge, the chemist, who had taught the revolutionists how to make gunpowder out of plaster of paris. "Geegaws, if you will," the first consul answered, "but people like them. Let us approach the question frankly. All men are enamored of decorations, the French more than any. They positively hunger for them, and they have always done so."

This was at Malmaison in 1802. In May the conseil d'etat was invited to consider the project of the institution of the Legion of Honor. It was ridiculed by many, notably by Moreau, who as victor of Hohenlinden was bitterly jealous of the victor of Marengo. At a dinner party he sent for his cook and said to him in the presence of his guests: "Michel, I am pleased with your dinner. You have indeed distinguished yourself. I will award you a saucupan of honor." Mme. de Stael was also satirical upon the subject. "Ah, one of the decorated?" she used to ask each guest who was shown into her salon.

But Napoleon had gauged human nature correctly. His Legion of Honor did meet a felt want, and it was definitely inaugurated on July 14, 1804. Among the eminent men of science and men of letters on whom it was then bestowed were included Laplace, the mathematician; Lalande, the astronomer; Cuvier, the naturalist, and Legouve, the poet. The most notable name omitted was that of Bernardin de St. Pierre, just then in disgrace for championing Mme. de Stael, whom Napoleon had banished, but he got the decoration later on the entreaty of Queen Hortense.

After Napoleon's downfall the question of suppressing the Legion of Honor arose. Chateaubriand, whom Napoleon had not decorated, strongly urged its abolition. So did Puzzo di Borgo, Marshals Victor, Marmont and MacDonald opposed. After debate it was decided to recognize and retain the order, not on any high moral or patriotic grounds, but because Louis XVIII. could not afford to make himself more unpopular than he was already by stripping people of their decorations. Chateaubriand and Lamartine consented to accept the red ribbon, but it was also conferred upon a great number of worthless personages and so brought into contempt.

There have been many Legion of Honor scandals since those days, but one of them surpasses all the others in magnitude. This is, of course, the Wilson scandal, the history of which, though intricate, is worth recalling.

The trouble may be said to have begun on the day on which Mlle. Allee Grevy fell in love with an opera singer who need not be mentioned here. He wanted to marry her, and she wanted to marry him, and the papers were beginning to couple the two names in a manner most embarrassing to the president of the republic. The president, however, sent the opera singer about his business and found his daughter another husband, not a very good husband, but the best husband he could procure on the spur of the moment. His choice fell upon M. Daniel Wilson, who had long been one of M. Grevy's political supporters and was a financier of some mark.

No sooner was M. Wilson established at the Elysee than he proceeded to enrich himself by various means. Among other things he founded a paper called Le Monteur de l'Exposition Universelle, which really covered a traffic in decorations. The whole story came out in a state trial toward the end of 1887. It was proved that Wilson had made a regular practice of selling the Legion of Honor, or, rather, of inviting people who wanted it to bribe him to use his influence to obtain it for them. His overtures were presented through his jackals, Generals d'Audoubert and Caffieri and Mmes. L. mousin and Itanazzi, and the whole party had to stand in the dock to gether.

Wilson was sentenced to two years' imprisonment, a fine of 3,000 francs and five years' deprivation of civil rights. He appealed, and the court of cassation annulled the judgment. The accused, said the judges, was obviously guilty of everything that he was charged with, but as his offenses were not anticipated by any punitive law he could not be punished. So he retired to the country and tried to live down his bad name. As he ultimately got himself elected conseiller general one must suppose that he succeeded in this object.—Pall Mall Gazette.

A TRUE WANT AD. STORIEETTE

(Copyright, 1911, by De Forest Porter.)

"Miss Down-in-the-Dumps" — that was my name all right a year ago. I was working for $5 a week as a stenographer, and it isn't the easiest thing in the world to eat, board and clothe yourself out of a $5 bill.

I became a stenographer because my big sister was a success as one and because my mother thought I could do as well as sister had, but I never quite liked it. I did love fine sewing, and as I had much idle time on my hands, I began to make collars and jabots for myself.

Soon I made them for my friends and the more I designed and the longer I sewed, the more distasteful office work became to me. I had earned $3 extra and laid it aside as a sort of a nest egg. One day I said to myself, "Why am I dividing my time and energy between two kinds of work? I can make more money with my needle than I can with the typewriter, so I put an advertisement in the want ad columns, stating that I would do embroidery, fine sewing on infants' wardrobes, and could design and make collars, stocks and jabots.

I had an answer to that advertisement in a few days. A man who made custom shirts wanted a monogram worker. That was my first order, for a dozen monograms. One day I showed him a fine jabot I had finished. He looked it over carefully. "That's just the sort of thing I've been looking for," he said. "I'm always having a call for fine collars and jabots from my women customers, who prefer a tailor-made shirt waist. Can you fit and design collars?" "Yes," I replied. "Why don't you come up here and work right here on a salary?"

We talked over the plans, and the salary I was to receive $12 a week to begin, and if the new department was a success, a substantial raise. I quit the typewriter without a tear. Mother and the family were horrified at the idea of my working at a shirt-maker's, but the larger salary finally persuaded them I was doing the right thing, and the fact that I would be so much happier sewing than turning out uninteresting letters from a machine brought mother to my way of thinking finally. That was a year ago. I think my investment in the want ad column of the paper was the best investment I ever made. Today I am earning $25 a week, and I love my work, which has grown in importance and which gives me the greatest satisfaction because I can see results.

The business and down town need not believe she is dependent on one line of work. She will find a valuable and trustworthy friend in the want ad columns of her daily newspaper. It has been the missing link between failures and success for many a girl. It changed my life so that I am no longer "Miss Down-in-the-Dumps," but, yours for success, "PROSPEROUS POLLY."

DANIEL GUGGENHEIM A CENTRAL FIGURE IN ALASKA LAND CASE.

Washington, July 14.—Daniel Guggenheim, one of the leading members of the Morgan-Guggenheim combination, is a central figure in the controversy now raging over the Alaska mineral lands and the Controller Bay property. The alleged "Dick to Dick" letter appears to have been written by Richard S. Ryan, an alleged secret agent of the Morgan-Guggenheim syndicate, to Richard A. Ballinger, when secretary of the interior, declaring that he (Ryan) had asked Charles P. Taft to speak to his brother, President Taft, about the Controller Bay claims in Alaska and that following this the president made no further objection to Ryan's claim. Controller Bay is said to be wanted as a terminus for railroads from the Guggenheim mine properties in Alaska.

FURTHER REPORT OF EXAMINATION OF COUNTY OFFICES

Hon. T. W. Jones, state examiner, in his report of the examination of the office of County Treasurer C. L. V. Holtz, says that C. L. V. Holtz has served as treasurer of Licking county during the entire time covered by his examination, having completed five years service at the end of his term on the first Monday of September, 1911. The examiner says that the general method of book-keeping in the treasurer's office was good and that the accounts in the main were well kept. Section 2640 to 2642 inclusive, of the general code, provides in what manner the treasurer shall keep his books. Section 2642 provides that the treasurer on each business day shall make a statement to the auditor for the preceding day, showing the amount of taxes received and credited to the various undivided tax funds, amount received from all other sources, etc. The examiner notes that a strict compliance with these sections has not been maintained. The examiner finds that in checking up the total taxes from the duplicate to the abstract sheet, a clerical error by which the dog fund from Ctica was credited with $50 too much was made, and Treasurer Holtz had to stand for it in the February settlement of 1908; also that Newark township joint district failed to get what was coming to her by $2 in the same settlement. The examiner holds that there is due from Treasurer Holtz the sum of $2 which should be credited to the dog fund, and $2 which should be credited to the account of the Newark township joint district. It is also held that there is due Treasurer Holtz from the dog fund $62 which should be deducted from the dog fund at August, 1911 settlement and retained in the undivided general tax fund to the credit of Treasurer Holtz.

COUNTY AUDITOR'S OFFICE. The examiner says briefly of the County Auditor's office: "The filing and checking of bills is strictly enforced and the auditing of the same has been done in a careful manner, with the result that but few errors were detected in this branch of work. But so much cannot be said of the work of the Auditor's journal and ledger, says the examiner, where errors have occurred. The examiner, in regard to appraising railroads, says that Auditor Wright charged $114.90 as traveling expenses, in 1909. He says that the amount was presumably retained by him for reimbursement of expenses in appraising the various railroads named in the bill.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS. Regarding the County Commissioners' office the examiner says: "Those who have served Licking county as County Commissioners for the period covered by this examination are John M. Lambert, John S. Graham, Townsend J. S. I. Tatham, J. E. Brownfield and George T. Tavener, the latter three having been re-elected for another full term at the last election. All these gentlemen have furnished bond in the sum of $5,000 each. The examiner says that it gives him pleasure to state that so far as he has been able to ascertain he believes the gentlemen who have served the county have endeavored to perform their duties faithfully and honestly, and Messrs. Tavener, Brownfield and Tatham are to be highly commended for the diligence which they are exercising in the various functions of their office."

COUNTY RECORDER. Regarding the office of County Recorder J. M. Farmer, Examiner Jones says: "No excessive fees were charged and the books were accurate and kept according to law, the execution of the clerical work being well handled."

THE FATNESS OF HEALTH.

Samose Fills Out the Curves and Makes Thin People Fat. If you are thin, your health is not what it should be. If you are losing weight steadily, there is something wrong that should be attended to at once. You cannot be healthy and strong if you are thin.

Perfect health and good, solid beautiful flesh only come through the use of Samose, the remarkable flesh forming food. This makes the thin and scrawny, plump and robust; it mixes with the food so that all of the elements that make solid bone, firm muscles and good flesh are thoroughly assimilated and retained in the system.

Samose is not a drug or stimulant; it is a scientific flesh forming food that restores thin people to a normal condition of good healthy flesh. These statements are confirmed by W. A. Erman & Son, who offer to refund the money to anyone buying and using Samose who does not gain in weight as promised. The risk is all theirs. The thin and scrawny can buy Samose at Druggist W. A. Erman & Son's store with the knowledge that if it is not successful it will cost absolutely nothing.

ADVICE TO WORKERS.

There's a business way of going about the securing of a better position if you are a worker and find that advancement is impossible in your present place—plan a little Want Ad campaign of your own. In your Want Advertising tell of your experience and your ability; outline plainly and concretely what you are capable of doing and tell something of your experience. Want Ads have brought opportunities to many conscientious workers that have resulted in material advancement. Do not be content where you are unless there is a future worth while, for if you have ability and perseverance, the Wants will find for you a better position.

The Emperor Augustus robbed February of a day and put it onto August, so that the month named after him should not be lacking in dignity.

RUFUS PUTNAM

Highly Honored by Election to Massachusetts Society as Successor to General Rufus Putnam.

Mr. Rufus Putnam of this city, has just been notified that at a meeting of the Massachusetts Society of the Cincinnati, held in Boston, he was unanimously recommended by the standing committee of the society for membership to the society as successor to General Rufus Putnam of the Army of the Revolution. Mr. Putnam will be required to go to Boston, be present at a meeting of the society, and sign the book in the presence of the members.

The Society of the Cincinnati was established at the close of the Revolutionary War, in May, 1783, by officers of the American Army, just previous to its disbanding, in the cantonment at Newburg, on the Hudson river. It was designed to be a "Society of friends, to endure as long as they shall endure or any of their eldest male posterity, and in failure thereof, the collateral branches who may be judges worthy of becoming its supporters and members."

It was founded on certain "immutable principles," viz. to preserve inviolate the rights and liberties secured by the war, to promote and cherish union and national honor between the states, to render permanent the cordial affection subsisting among the officers, and specially to assist such officers, or their families, as might be in need. The Massachusetts Society holds an annual meeting at Boston on the 4th of July. Its business affairs are transacted by the officers and a standing committee, who hold regular meetings in March and November of each year, at which times applications for membership are considered, and aid is voted to beneficiaries out of the income of the society's fund.

O. G. MURRAY HAS ORPHEUM LEASE AT ZANESVILLE

Zanesville, July 14.—Anent the speculation as to who owns the lease on the Orpheum theatre, Mr. W. Hunter Atha, owner of the property, said yesterday: "I have a lease with Sun & Murray for a term of ten years, and a cash bonus is in my hands for the faithful performance of the provisions of same. Today I received my regular monthly rental from Mr. O. G. Murray and I know no other person or persons in the deal. Harry Carter never paid me the rentals during his conduct of the house, and I have always gotten my money from either Gus Sun or O. G. Murray."

It is generally understood that Omar G. Murray of Richmond, Ind., is the sub-lessee under Sun & Murray of the house, and that Mr. Murray will in his own good time announce who will manage the theatre this season. It is understood by persons who have contracted for advertising space on the drop curtain that the house will open August 1.
